

The San Diego Public Library
invites you to

Stories de la Frontera & Escondido Stories

"Stories de la Frontera" unveils an exclusive look at Pulitzer Prize photos that capture the life of a young Honduran boy destined to find his mother in the United States. "Stories de la Frontera" takes you to the scene of "Hells Alley," a tough neighborhood south of the border where young children are exposed to life, most children only see in movies. It also shows how two businessmen are cashing-in on the Mexican coffee craze.

The Media Arts Center San Diego's Tu Voz TV! project focuses on public health, education, politics, and history with "Escondido Stories". The four shorts include: "For Our Health", a look at the health care crisis in North County; "Going the Distance", exposing North County's educational dilemma--that almost 70% of Latino youths drop out of high school; "Politica", an investigative documentary about the Latino community and politics in the City of Escondido; and "Nuestra Historia: The History of Latinos in Escondido".
